Confidence

Confidence

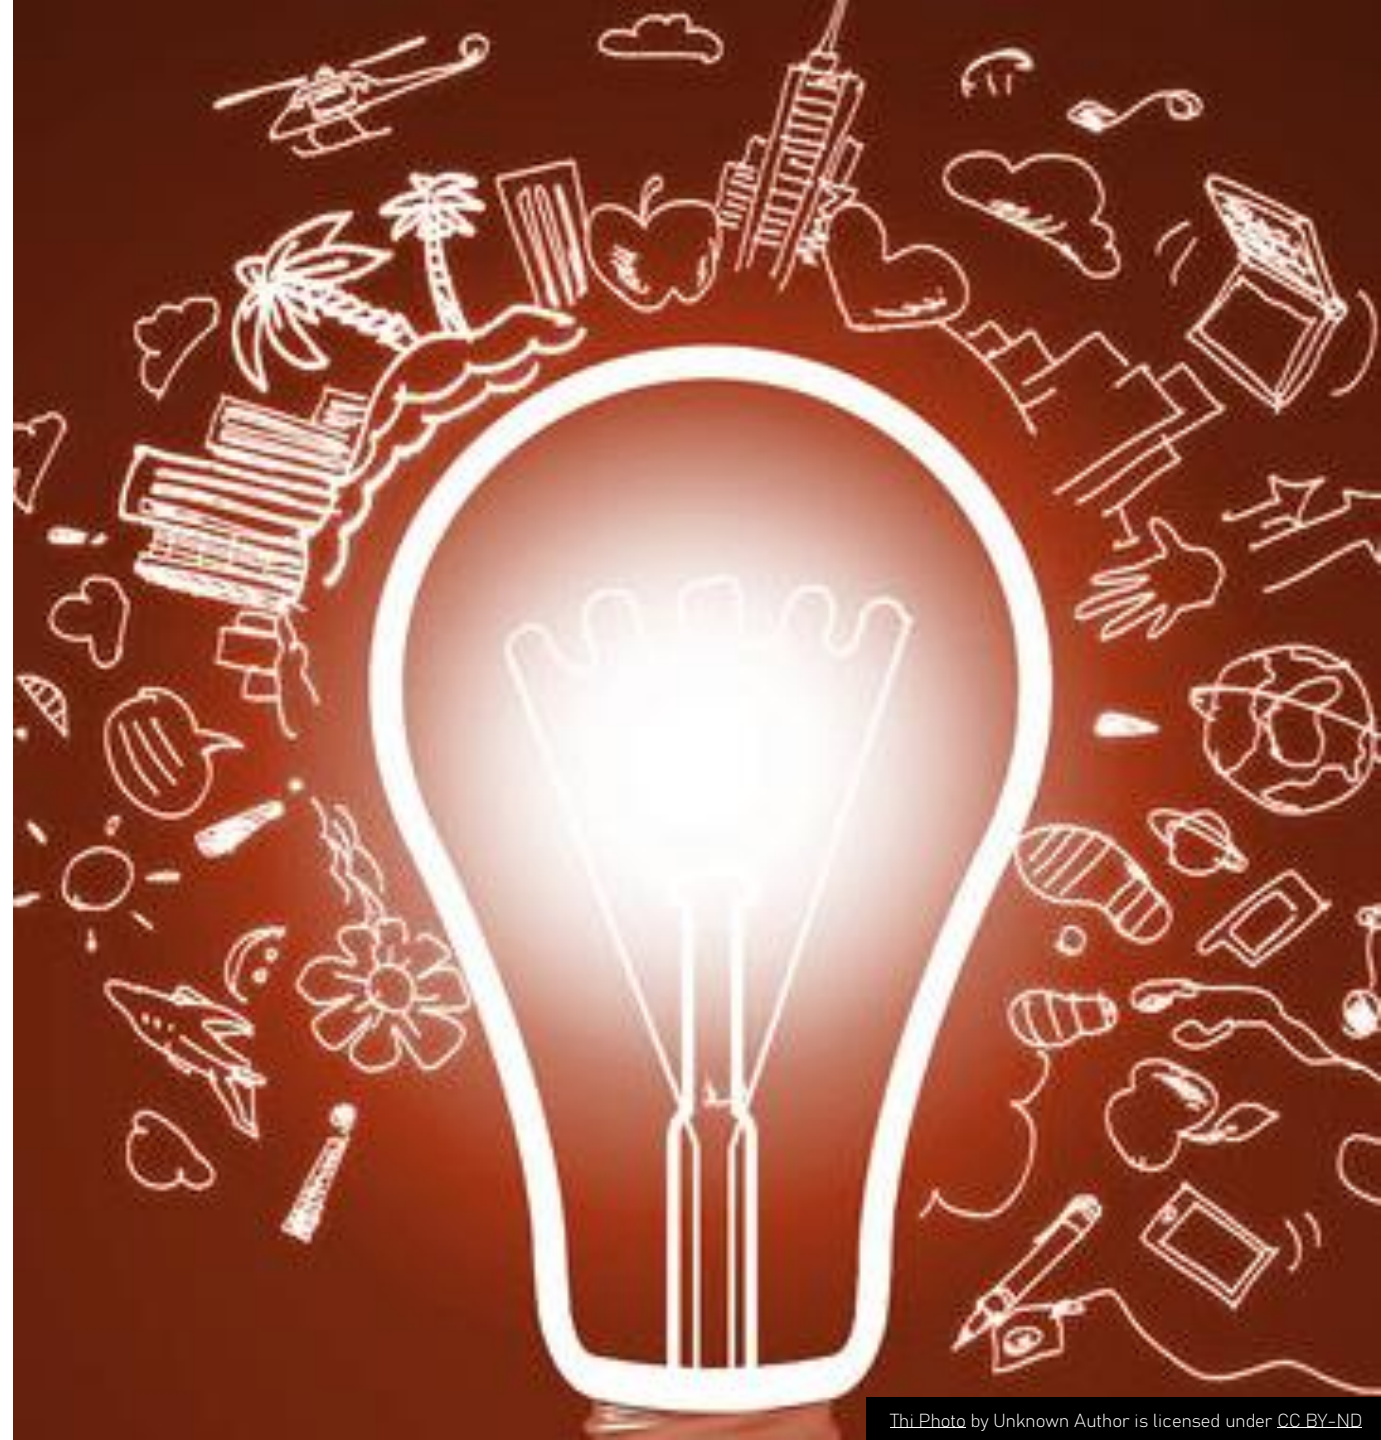

Entrepreneurs exude confidence. They believe in themselves and their abilities.

They are risk-takers and believe they can always succeed

At the same time, they accept when they have made a mistake and learn from them to not make the same mistake again.

- Entrepreneurs keep on innovating. They keep bringing new ideas into their business to keep it fresh.
- They make sure that customers don't get bored of their products and keep buying them. This ensures that they keep making profits and people keep buying their products.

Patience

- One of the main qualities of an entrepreneur is patience.
- Entrepreneurs have to exhibit as patience as businesses take time to grow, possibly years so they have to keep waiting and not rush things.
- A new venture takes time to reap rewards and entrepreneurs must be willing to wait.

Creativity

- Entrepreneurs train themselves to approach a problem from every angle. This allows them to think differently about common problems and find solutions for them.
- It also helps them to find unique, creative solutions that can turn their product into necessity from a novelty.

Responsibility

- Certainly, one of the biggest qualities that an entrepreneur must inculcate within themselves is a sense of responsibility.
- They need to accept complete responsibility for their actions even when they make mistakes.
- Entrepreneurs set an example for future generations and need to lead from the front and as such need to own up to their actions.

Decision Taking

- Entrepreneurs constantly need to make decisions in the workplace.
- Since they usually hold high positions in companies, they need to make good quality decisions after careful consideration.
- Sometimes they need to take quick decisions on the go and for that decision taking is a skill that really comes in handy.

Hard Working

- Entrepreneurs are distinguishable from the rest of the workforce owing to a single quality of theirs, a hard-working attitude.
- Entrepreneurs know that to reach great heights they need to put in hundreds of hours of work .They sacrifice a lot of time usually gone in leisure activities to keep working and get to the top.

Perseverance

- Entrepreneurs never give up in the face of a difficulty. No matter how tough the roads get they keep working hard.
- If they make a mistake or if a tough problem arises out of nowhere entrepreneurs try and solve that problem instead of giving up and quitting

PATIENCE,
PERSISTENCE AND PERSPIRATION MAKE AN UNBEATABLE
COMBINATION FOR
